

Stakeholder update

November 2023

The NSW Government is working with stakeholders and landholders to deliver a 32 km extension to the current NSW Border Wild Dog Fence (commonly known as the dog fence) on the NSW and South Australian borders. The 32 km priority section will close the gap between the NSW and South Australian dog fences.

Current project status

The project is focused on securing approvals and getting construction underway of the 32 km priority section. From 13 November 2023, the following activities are underway:

surveying of the proposed alignment

finalising documentation with adjoining landholders

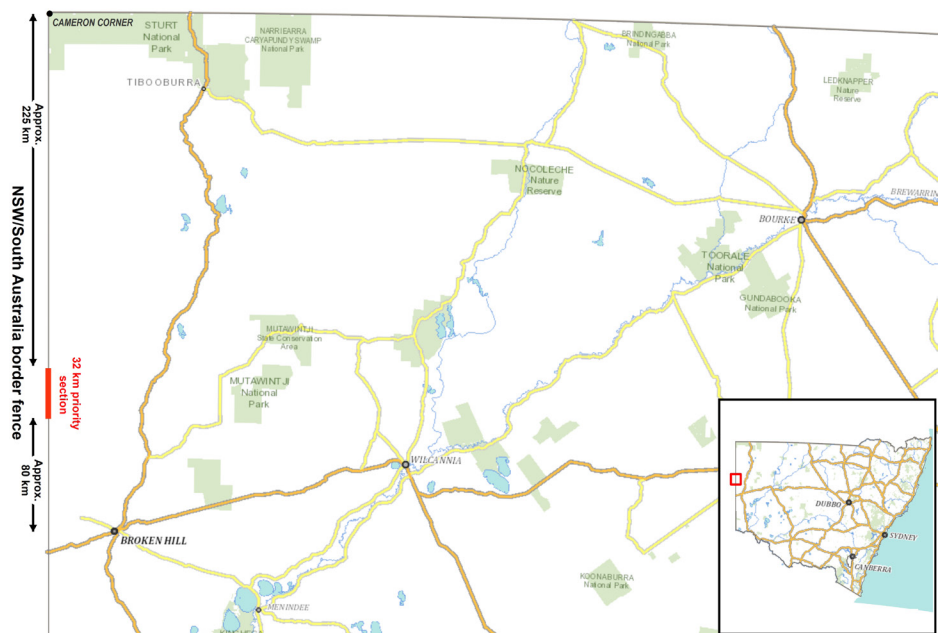

Aboriginal cultural heritage mitigation works procurement activities for construction services coordinating the final clearance prior to construction starting

Next steps

After these activities are completed, construction will commence. During the summer months (December - February), construction may be limited to activities that can be carried out safely in the hot conditions.

Visit the project webpage – www.lls.nsw.gov.au/wdf. The project will be making regular updates to the webpage regarding project status and the timeline for construction Delivery of the project is being managed by the Department of Regional NSW and involves agencies including Local Land Services, Soil Conservation Service, NSW Public Works and the NSW Border Fence Maintenance Board. The project acknowledges the support it has received from stakeholders and landholders to date.
