The Regional and Local Landcare Coordinator positions are hosted by local organisations. The Landcare coordinators are a key resource whose role is to empower people to act on local natural resource management, sustainable agriculture and environmental problems and deliver outcomes both locally and across the region. The Regional Agriculture Landcare Facilitator (RALF) is a key component of the Australian Government's National Landcare Program, working with Landcare, producer groups and landholders to help improve the sustainability, productivity and profitability of agriculture.
