

Riparian Rehabilitation in the Manning Great Lakes Information Sheet

Hunter Local Land Services (LLS) is helping landholders in the MidCoast Local Government Area to improve riparian vegetation, riverbank stability, water quality and estuary health by providing technical advice and incentive funding for riparian improvement projects. Funding is currently available to support landholders to implement riparian on-ground works involving:

- riverbank fencing
- off-stream stock water supply
- revegetation with native species
- weed control to improve riparian vegetation

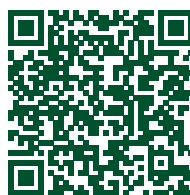

Hunter Local Land Services encourages interested landholders in the MidCoast Council Local Government Area to call us on 1300 795 299 or directly contact one of our Riparian team members listed below.

This program is being delivered by Hunter Local Land Services with funding from the New South Wales Government's Marine Estate Management Strategy. For more information on the Strategy →

What is a Riparian Zone?

The riparian zone is the riverbank and land within and immediately adjoining a river or stream.

The benefits of a well vegetated riparian zone include:

- Shade and shelter for livestock
- Runoff filtration and improved water quality
- Riverbank stabilisation and erosion control
- Wildlife habitat and connectivity
- Resilience to flood impacts
- Carbon sequestration
